

Introducing... Crashwrap Weather Barrier Film

New Product for the Collision Services and Auto Glass Industry now available in Canada!!

Shop owner develops new protective plastic film

Crashwrap Temporary Weather Barrier Film provides a quick and convenient way to protect damaged vehicles from further weather related problems. Crashwrap self-adhesive film was developed specifically to cover broken glass and other openings on damaged vehicles.

Protect vehicle interiors from weather damage

Crashwrap Film is a tough, flexible, self-adhesive plastic film. Use it to seal broken windows and sprung doors of vehicles left exposed to the weather elements following a collision or vandalism. The film is available in both 3 mils thick with yellow tint and 5 mils thick clear. The film is coated on one side with a special light-tack adhesive designed to hold fast yet still be removed without the adhesive transferring. The film contains Ultraviolet Inhibitors to prevent sunlight damage when exposed for extended periods of time.

Plastic Bags and Duct Tape are ineffective and leak

An even bigger problem is that the duct tape and plastic bags are not an effective barrier to water. It gets under the plastic along an edge or through a small tear in the flimsy plastic and into the vehicle, suddenly there's more water damage to the interior. Ordinary plastic film lack UV protection to prevent sun damage to the film itself and the vehicle interior. If you've got a blown out window and that car sits in the bright sunlight for a week, your customer may be asking why the upholstery looks faded. That's because covering a window opening with ordinary plastic film doesn't offer the UV protection of factory glass and the interior fabrics aren't made to take the unfiltered sunlight.

Versatile and cost effective

You can cover a broken window with about $1.50 worth of Crashwrap Film, it can be applied in a fraction of time when compared to duct tape and plastic and it eliminates the detail time to clean up tape adhesive. What's more, you don't risk the cost of repainting an older vehicle when the duct tape pulls the paint off!
